Joseph A. Rasband became store manager. The Consolidated Wagon and Machine Company occupied space in the south end of the new building. On the upper story there were a variety of tenants. The Wasatch High School met there for several years, there were offices of professional men and the county public welfare office and the library occupied space at various times.

In 1936 an explosion in the building's furnace caused a fire that spread rapidly through the building, destroying completely the store and the library and the U.S. Forest Service office and Welfare office on the second floor. After the fire the company was reorganized and a smaller building was reconstructed. Charles DeGraff became manager of the store, which was later sold to Engman Bond. At the present time most of the building is leased by Safeway and the remaining part houses Christensen's Dry Goods Store.

In 1916, A. Hatch and Company became known as the Heber City Exchange. Managers of the store after Joseph Hatch included Ludvig Anderson, William L. Turner, John A. Anderson, Ray Mahoney and on Fourth North. Continuing success found him moving to a Main Street location which is now occupied by the Hi-Way Motel.

The store became commonly known as "Mark's Store." Mr. Jeffs promoted the use of his own medium of exchange. He made coins of tin in various denominations which he exchanged for the hay, grain, eggs or any other produce that customers brought in. One side of the coins bore the inscription, "Mark Jeffs, October, 1897, Heber, Utah." On the other side was inscribed "Good for (the value of the coin) in merchandise." Similar coins or "scrip" as it became known was also used later at the Heber Mercantile Company.

In 1903 Mr. Jeffs was called as a missionary for the Church to England. He left Joseph A. Rasband in charge of the store and his other business interests. When he returned from England, Mr. Jeffs sold the store in a newly organized company known as the Heber Mercantile Company. He retained half interest in the new business and acted as manager for a short time and then president of the company. The new venture had a capital stock of $15,000 when it was formed.

A new building was constructed to house the Heber Merc, and

JAMES & SARAH FERGUSON McDONALD

The time was the year 1842, the place Belfast, Ireland at the home of James and Sarah Ferguson McDonald. Here a Mormon Elder was explaining his religious beliefs. James and Sarah were one of the first four families to accept the gospel in this town and prepare to move to Utah.

They were the parents of seven children, Jane, Eliza, John, William, Mary, Robert and Joseph S. James earned a living by following the flax dressing trade. His wages were small. He had three acres of land where they raised vegetables and fruits. A goat provided their milk.

Sarah was very ambitious and wanted to help get to Zion. A story is told of how she went shopping one day and bought a little pig which she carried home under her arm. She raised the pig and with the money she got she started a small store, thus helping to get money to help come to Utah. The sale of home and land netted them two hundred dollars.

After reaching America they lived in Nauvoo and Bonepart, Iowa until the father and boys had obtained 3 yoke of oxen, 2 wagon, 2 yoke of cows and a pony. In the spring of 1850 they began the long journey to Zion. James died of cholera and was buried, without a casket, on the North bank of the Platte River.

The family settled first in Springville but moved to Heber in 1862, all but Eliza who stayed in Springville, and Robert, who went to California. The rest of the family lived in Wasatch County the remainder of their lives.

Sarah was known by everybody and lovingly called Granny Mc.
